"Can't Afford to Paint."

The man who says that, forgets that painting properly done is economy, and the fact is he can't afford NOT to paint.

How often you require to paint is largely dependent upon the paint you use.

THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS

out last others. They are the most economical paints you can use, because they cover most and wear longest. Add to this their good appearance, and you have perfect paints—The Sherwin-Williams Paints.

They are made for many different kinds of painting. Whatever it is you want to paint—a house, or anything in or out of the house—we make the right paint for that particular purpose—not one slap-dash mixture for all.

Not Understood

Not understood, we move along asunder,
Our paths grow wider as the seasons creep,
Along the years we marvel and we wonder
Why life is life? And then we fall asleep—
Not understood.

Not understood, we gather false impressions
And hug them closer as the years go by,
Till virtues often seem to us transgressions,
And thus men rise and fall and live and die—
Not understood.

Not understood—how trifles often change us.
The thoughtless sentence of the fancied slight
Destroy long years of friendship and estrange us
And on our souls there falls a freezing blight—
Not understood.

How many cheerless, lonely hearts are aching
For lack of sympathy—Ah, day by day
How many cheerless, lonely hearts are breaking,
How many noble spirits pass away—
Not understood.

Oh God! That men could see a little clearer,
Or judge less harshly where they cannot see—
Oh God! That men would draw a little nearer
One another, they'd be nearer Thee—
And understood. —Selected.

If yon think of anything good to say about your neighbor and if it isn't mushy, go ahead, say it. No one will pay much attention to you anyway and in case he does, he will soon forget it, and donbtless say little or nothing about it. If you think of something bad to say—wait—count eleven or twelve and then do be careful. There is someone just around the corner already on his tiptoes to run home for his megaphone.

BRITISH THRIFT

The British War Savings Committee has become a permanent institution in England and the following declaration has been issued explaining the English attitude toward thrift:

"Quite as important, both as a source of revenue and as a social movement, is the restraint of luxury, and growth of economy and simplicity of life among the well-to-do. Otherwise goods and services will be wasted. War saving applies to all classes, and appeals to all incomes."

Soldier's Letter from Germany

Bad Neuenahr, Germany, Feb. 15th

Dear Mother:

Well we are still in Germany and looks like it may be for some time yet. I, or rather we, hear lots of blue birds, talk about going home but nothing from headquarters. I wish we knew when, even if several months away, we could at least scratch off the days and this way we just wonder.

Nothing much to tell you except that it has been cold and quite a bit of snow, altho back in Michigan it wouldn't be any thing. We had to move out of our nice new quarters, in the hotel, an evacuation hospital came along and ranked us out, but have a fair place now; a few months ago we would have thought it the top of the world, but after the hotel it is about next to a barn.

I have been over to the Rhine, a few times; also was up to Coblenz one day. saw lots of people skating on the Rhine. I wish we were closer to it. I haven't skated for years. The Rhine is quite some river, swift and very pretty, with its high bluffs and old castles on the very tops of them, some pretty good size boats run up and down it. I went up to see Miss Hunt but didn't get to see her. I have been trying to get a pass up, but getting a pass is just like calling up the States on the telephone, it can't be done.

Received a letter from Curt. He wants to know what I am going to do when I get back. Well I am going to get back first and then find out. For the life of me I can't figure out just what I am going to do.

Must close now, with Love to all from Glenn.

The Song of a Thrift Stamp

Where is the all-day sucker
Of red and yellow hue?
Where is the penny licorice
And the gum they used to chew?

The penny bank was empty,
The children spent their "cents"—
Between "good fun" and "saving"
There used to be a fence.

But now the pennies rattle in
As fast as they can come.
The children all buy Thrift Stamps now;
What is the fun in gum?

It's nice to say you own ten stamps
Or five, or two or three.
Each one has helped to load a gun
To set the Belgians free.

And fun? My lands! how proud you feel
When to the man you say,
"No, thanks, no soda water now,
I'll take a stamp to-day."

Have your babies Weighed and Measured

SLOGAN—"In any community no mother's baby is safe till every mother's baby is safe."

The weighing and measuring of children under six years of age will begin in Campbell on March 21 and continue for one week to 28th. The chairman, Mrs. W. I. Merrill announces the following committee: Miss Mary Lewis, Mrs. Frank Duncan, Mrs. Harry Watrous, Mrs. A. D. Van Arsdell.

It is hoped that Campbell will have a complete registration—not a child deprived of the benefits now being offered by the Children's Year committee. The mothers are urged to take the babies to the center and ascertain what method of of treatment is needed to build a healthy, happy, future citizenry.

Do not forget that the weighing and measuring tests are absolutely free; also remember that if a mother desires to take her child to her own physician arrangements may be made which shall allow her to do so.

As Dr. Merrill is still in the government's service—he is unable to be at his office before four P. M., and on certain afternoons. This week the time is Friday and Saturday. Next week Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Perhaps your baby is a 100 per cent baby. Bring him in and find out.

Home and School Club

The ladies of the Home and School Club met Tuesday afternoon as usual, but the attendance was very small. It was hoped that the few garments already commenced could been finished, as Mrs. Schallenberger of the Jr. Red Cross paid us a visit and left twenty undershirts for us to make, which they would like finished as soon as possible. Next Monday afternoon we will meet as usual and it is hoped a goodly number of ladies will come to help us in our work. Each school is supposed to make a certain number of these garments, and the Campbell grammar school allotment is twenty of these undershirts for boys. Please make a special effort to come.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

MESSAGE TO THE SCOUTS

Surely the world has been afire. The big principles at stake have brought out the very best thought and most effective efforts of those who have been fighting for the principles of democracy and humanity, says Chief Scout Executive James E. West.

Scouts certainly approached the Christmas season with joyous hearts. We must, however, bear in mind that the end is not yet. New responsibilities face the civilized world.

Our own country has been recognized as the leader in the development of a new understanding among men. It will take months, and indeed years, to work out the new order of things. The need of men of character to meet the responsibilities which we will have, both here and abroad, makes more important than ever before the scouting program.

Our motto is "Be Prepared." Your scout leaders will tell you much about this in the weeks and months to come. Let you and I, one and all, as members of the world brotherhood of scouts, make a part of our daily endeavors a rededication of ourselves to the principles for which scouting stands.

Let us make the scout oath and the scout law more vital in our daily lives and be prepared to do our share in meeting the responsibilities of today and tomorrow.

DELIVERED CHRISTMAS BASKETS

Scouts Found Plenty to Do During the Holiday Season.

GOOD SCOUTS MADE INDIANS.

At the official camp of the scouts in Delaware and Montgomery counties, Pennsylvania, the bunkhouse, holding eight boys, is planned similar to the witan, or "big house," of the Unami Indians, who inhabited that section and which was used by the Indians for ceremonial purposes.

The openings at the top are smoke holes, the fires being built on stone altars, even with the floor. This makes a good council fire and does not throw out the heat like the fireplace.

At the close of the camp every year there is a ceremony held by Mahpiushna, a full-blooded Indian, at which the boys who win honors at camp are initiated as warriors into the Unami tribe by the old ceremony and with the Indian paraphernalia obtained from the tribe.

SCOUTS PROUD OF THEIR WORK.

The Boy Scouts of America have good reason to feel proud of the patriotic and helpful service they have rendered to the government in all of its wartime activities during the year.

Never before in the history of the scout movement have organized boys been able to demonstrate so thoroughly their helpfulness. The fourth Liberty loan has left behind it a broader and a more comprehensive vision of what scouting in its truest sense means to the growing boys of the community and to the nation at large.

Their efforts in gardening activities, as messengers of the president in the distribution of anti-German propaganda, as helpers to the Red Cross, as locators of black walnut, as gatherers of peach stones, as sellers of Thrift and War Savings stamps and Liberty bonds have demonstrated to the world at large the value of organized boyhood.

Size of Poland

Ranks as Fifth European Nation

Notwithstanding the fact that in the war nearly 3,000,000 Polish-speaking soldiers were forced into fratricidal combat, driven into battle by German and Austrian and Russian conscriptions, to fight their cousins and brothers, many persons seem to believe Poland a small nation, writes Frederick Moore in World's Work. They forget the magnitude of its historic domain and the numbers of its people. The kingdom of Boleslaus the Great (992-1025) stretched from the Baltic sea to the Carpathians. It included part of Saxony, the whole of Silesia, and stretched away almost to Berlin. In 1772, when came the first dismemberment, Poland covered 300,000 square miles, almost 100,000 miles more than the German empire of today. Its population was 11,500,000. It ranks, indeed with Italy as the fifth European nation. Before the outbreak of the war there was a compact mass of 35,000,000 people in Europe speaking the Polish language; and whatever ruler might claim dominion over them, they were one; no mutilation of the national body, no cruelties or oppressions, could dissever the Poles in spirit. They remain today one nation in language and in aspirations, despite a century and a half of political slavery, and through all these years the love of liberty has burned within them as an inextinguishable flame.

Former Kaiser Tried to Be Sure of "Me und Gott"

The kaiser's religious mysticism offers a very inadequate shield for his conception of personal sovereignty, David Jayne Hill says in his "Impressions of the Kaiser." A mystic he seems to be, but in practice he is a realist and an opportunist of the most strenuous type.

In Turkey he wore the dress and uttered the speech of a sincere Mohammedan.

At Rome he visited the pope and sent gifts to him as if he were a fervent Catholic.

Ex-officio he was a Lutheran and urged all to help him "maintain religion in the people."

In Queensland.

The natives of Torres Straits, Queensland, make numerous ornaments out of tortoise and pearl shells. Hair combs, earrings, finger rings, chains and brooches made of tortoise shell and inlaid with mother of pearl are given an artistic finish. And often the only tool used is a knife or a piece of broken glass.

700,000 Men of Draft Age in the United States Who Cannot Read or Write Any Language

The war revealed an extent of illiteracy in America almost unbelievable, notes a writer in Leslie's. Secretary of the Interior Lane points out that there are 700,000 men of draft age in the United States who cannot read or write in English or in any other language. There are 5,500,000 persons over ten years of age who cannot read or write in any language. The regular army never enlisted illiterates, but the draft act brought into the army approximately 35,000 illiterates and as many more who were almost illiterate. These soldiers could not sign their names. They could not read the manual of arms. They could not read their letters or write home. They could not read their daily orders posted on bulletin boards in camp. They could not understand signals in time of battle. The economic loss through illiteracy is estimated at $825,000,000 a year, on the conservative assumption that the productive labor value of an illiterate is less by only 50 cents a day than that of an educated person. Ten per cent of our country folk cannot read or write a word. In view of these facts, Secretary Lane urges an appropriation for a systematic campaign to eradicate adult illiteracy.

LOVER WITH WINGS

No more your chariot with wings
Shall sail the conquered sky;
How long before my heart shall cease
To hear you planing by?

You went the hard way to the stars,
Lover of mine with wings!
So often and so long outsoared,
The trail of earthly things

Was but the chain of gossamer
That snaps at noon's fierce kiss;
Nay, was the love that bound our souls
So frail a thing as this?

O fine, fair spirit! Dreamward-bound,
I climb your trackless space;
Is there yet room among your stars
For my remembered face?

Music you made for me is hushed;
Yet still, on muted strings,
I hear the throbbing of your flight
Lover of mine with wings!

—Ethel M. Hewitt in Harper's Magazine.

Uses Blocks of Ice in Making Hollow Concrete

According to the Bruckenbau, the production of hollow concrete bodies completely inclosed, which has hitherto only been possible within certain limits, is made easier by the new patent system of Stefan Rohm of Munich, who proposes to inclose a block of ice of the required shape in concrete. Of course, small openings or channels would be left, by means of which the thaw water could escape. In this way it is possible to produce not only small concrete bodies with hollow center but large ones as well. The process can be applied to artificial stone.

The sheep of Uruguay are amazing in number. They seem to fill every hill and valley for miles. Statistics show that there are 27,000,000 within the bounds of the country.

Exports for 1918 Reached Over Six Billion Dollars, Double Value of Imports

American exports during the year 1918 amounted to $6,150,000,000, or $83,000,000 below the total for the preceding year, and more than double the value of imports. The import total was $3,031,000,000, compared with $2,952,000,000 in 1917.

Heavy exports in December brought the total well beyond early estimates. During December, the first full month after the signing of the armistice, exports reached a total of $566,000,000, an increase over the $522,000,000 reported for November, although not up to the high mark of $600,000,000 for December, 1917.

Exports for December were low, being $211,000,000 against $251,000,000 for November, and $288,000,000 for December of the previous year.

Imports as well as exports of gold continued to decrease, the imports amounting to $62,000,000 in 1918, against $522,000,000 in 1917, and the exports to $41,000,000 and $371,000,000 in the same year.

Imports of silver increased from $53,000,000 in the calendar year 1917 to $71,000,000 in 1918. The exports of silver during December, 1918, amounted to $58,000,000, a larger amount than in any month during the last three years. For the calendar year exports of silver amounted to $253,000,000 in 1918, against $84,000,000 in 1917.

Soda Fountains Are More Profitable Than Liquor Bars in New York City

Most of the soft drinks now sold are too sweet to suit the taste of the average man, according to a writer in the New York Commercial. Old-fashioned ginger beer and ginger ale made with real ginger, instead of red pepper, or capsicum, as the trade calls the extract, would make a hit when prohibition comes in force. Raspberry vinegar, loganberry juice, pure apple juice, grape juice, lemonade and similar drinks should command a large sale in the soft drink bars and our hotels after July 1 next. The great thing is to give the people pure beverages at fair prices. Today soda fountains are more profitable than liquor bars in many parts of New York city. In the alcohol-less poor men's clubs of the prohibition period that will supplant saloons, the secret of success seems to lie in furnishing beverages that do not clog or sicken. There are plenty, if those in the business are wise and honest enough to sell them.

Food for the Family.

A variety of salads, crisp, simple, well-dressed with a simple French dressing, makes the task of planning meals easier and the meal more wholesome. For a dinner salad, lettuce, water cress, endive or Chinese cabbage, with a plain dressing of any kind preferred, is liked.

Jellied Vegetable Salad.

Take a half cupful of finely shredded cabbage, one-half cupful of cooked peas, a tablespoonful or two of small cubed cooked beets and a half cupful of peanuts. This will be a good combination. Soak one tablespoonful of gelatin in one-quarter of a cupful of cold water and dissolve in one cupful of boiling water; then add one-quarter of a cupful of sugar, the same amount of mild vinegar, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Strain, cool and when the mixture begins to thicken add the vegetables and nuts; there should be about one and three-quarters cupfuls. Turn into a ring mold and chill thoroughly. Arrange on a platter with sliced cold roast lamb garnished with water cress.

Sardine and Lettuce Salad.

Skin and bone three sardines for each serving, arrange on crisp head lettuce and garnish with a stuffed olive; add a squeeze of lemon juice and a spoonful of mayonnaise on the side of the plate.

Lettuce With Roquefort.

A most delicious salad for those who are fond of the cheese is prepared by blending a tablespoonful of Roquefort cheese with paprika, a bit of salt and French dressing. Pour over the head lettuce just before going to the table. A bit of catsup may be added, if liked, or a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce.

Tomato Salad.

Tomatoes may be served in numberless ways as salad. Cut in cups and filled with chopped cucumber, an onion and a good dressing is one very appetizing way. A thick slice of tomato, topped with a slice of hard-cooked egg and a spoonful of salad dressing; a slice of tomato heaped with chopped celery and onion and salad dressing, all are good.

Public Work Opening Up

Reports to the Council of National Defense Indicate Projects to Cost $100,000,000 Will Be Started This Spring

The following statement is made by the council of national defense, showing that the nation has heeded the requests to find jobs for soldiers:

"The signing of the armistice has opened the way for carrying on public works postponed during the war because of labor and material shrotage.

"Partial reports from 28 states received in answer to questionnaires turned out by the council of national defense show more than $58,250,000 in expenditure already authorized. These reports included roads, canals, reclamation construction, and the erection of public buildings.

"In order to provide necessary employment for returning soldiers, sailors and war workers, the council of national defense has asked the aid of all state, county and local community councils in fostering this work.

"The problems faced by the states are diversified, but it is probable that there is now a total of more than $100,000,000 worth of public work authorized or financed. The $58,250,000 already reported is a conservative figure, as it is made up from funds already issued for actual projects, budget items for road work and definite items for public improvements.

"The legislatures of more than 40 states are meeting and it is probable that a large number of new projects will be authorized and financed—partially as emergency measures."

DISINFECTANTS FOR THE POULTRY

Good disinfectants destroy the germs of contagious diseases, the external parasites, such as lice and mites, and in some cases the eggs of parasitic worms. The eggs of some kinds of worms are so resistant that disinfectants other than heat have little effect upon them. The disinfectants should be thoroughly applied to the interior of the houses, worked into the crevices, spread over the ceiling and the floor, the roosts, dropping boards and nest boxes. At the same time the feeding and drinking troughs should be disinfected by pouring boiling water into them and afterward drying them in the sun. Disinfectants are most easily applied to the walls and ceilings with a spray pump or by using a brush. As it is difficult to keep them from coming in contact with the face and hands, the more harmless of the mixtures should generally be used. Ordinarily limewash made from freshly slaked lime is excellent, and its properties are well known to all. In the case of an actual outbreak of virulent disease it is well to add to the limewash six ounces of crude carbolic acid to each gallon, to increase its activity as a disinfectant.

Will Shoot Projectiles Entirely Off the Earth

In a detailed scientific discussion of the German long-range gun which bombarded Paris last spring, Maj. J. Maitland-Addison, writing in the Journal of the Royal Artillery, takes a peep into the future, observes the Scientific American, and considers the possibility of a gun capable of shooting projectiles entirely off the earth into space, a la Jules Verne. The requisite velocity of such a gun is not, he says, so very much higher than what has already been achieved; viz., a muzzle velocity of a mile per second. When we are able to increase this to five miles per second, the projectile, if fired at a suitable angle, will travel around the earth, as a grazing satellite, completing its orbit between 17 and 18 times daily. With a velocity of about seven miles a second, it will move off into space, never to return.

SAYINGS OF SAGES

We sometimes meet with men who seem to think that any indulgence in an affectionate feeling is weakness.—Miss Mulock.

The year passes quick, though the hours tarry, and time bygone is a dream, though we thought it never would go while it was going.—Newman.

Has Mensheviki Also

There are now two factions of the Russian socialistic party, says the World's Work, and these two factions were called the "Mensheviki" and the "Bolsheviki." In Russian these words mean nothing more startling than the "Minority" and the "Majority." A "Menshevik" is a moderate revolutionist, a "Bolshevik" is a "whole hogger," who is determined to obtain the earthly paradise instantaneously.

$8,830,204,000 in Live Stock.

Live stock on farms and ranges of the country on January 1 was valued at $8,830,204,000 in an estimate made public by the department of agriculture. This is an increase of $546,006,000 over their value a year ago.

No Horses, Only Tractors Are Used to Work 200,000 Acres of Indian Farm Land

Wheat will be harvested next fall from one of the world's largest farms comprising about 200,000 acres of Indian lands in Montana and Wyoming.

On this huge farm not a horse will be used. Instead, large tractors capable of turning over large quantities of prairie sod were purchased. In all 52 of these machines are now the property of the corporation, and the plowing record for last summer was more than one acre a minute for the working time. On one day 1,880 acres were turned and broken.

Of this big tract, about 33,000 acres of irrigated land have been plowed and seeded, and the remainder it is announced will be cultivated during the coming summer.

The land is located on the Crow, Blackfeet and Fort Peck reservations in Montana and the Wing river reservation in Wyoming. To make this land productive a corporation with $2,000,000 capital was organized last spring, when Thomas D. Campbell, a North Dakota farmer, conceived the idea of cultivating the thousands of acres of the Indian lands in Montana and Wyoming.

Campbell lacked capital, but obtained the approval and assistance of the secretary of the interior, Franklin K. Lane, and J. P. Morgan and other leading New York bankers. The corporation was then formed with several of these bankers as members of the board of directors and Campbell was president.

Finest Dogskin Clothes Come From Manchuria and Mongolia

Dogskins are made up into rugs for sleeping mats and clothing. The hair is long and thick and of all colors, from a rich black through all shades and combinations of brown, yellow and gray to pure white. The last are the finest. There are thousands of dog farms dotted over southwestern Manchuria and eastern Mongolia, where from twenty to some hundreds of dogs are raised annually as a source of wealth; for example, a bride will have as her dowry a number of dogs in proportion to her father's means. Nowhere else in the world are found such splendid dogskins—for size, length of hair and quality—as the extreme cold develops there. A full-sized robe is 8 by 68 inches, taken from eight dogs. The dogs are cruelly strangled when eight months old, in midwinter, the coats being then at their best. The export in 1916 was 806,000 pieces.

1918 Output of Quicksilver Showed Decrease in Quantity

The domestic output of quicksilver in 1918, according to statistics compiled by F. L. Ransome of the United States geological survey, department of the interior, was 33,432 flasks of 75 pounds each, valued at the average quoted market price at San Francisco ($117.92 a flask) at about $3,942,301. Compared with the output in 1917 of 36,159 flasks, valued at $3,808,266, this shows a decrease in quantity of 2,727 flasks, but an increase in value of $134,035.

The productive states were California, Texas, Nevada, Oregon and Idaho, named in the order of decreasing importance.

Take a Grape Cure.

The effect of unfermented grape juice as a drink has been studied at the European "grape cures" and to a slight extent in laboratories. It is generally claimed that the consumption of a reasonably large quantity of it improves digestion, diminishes intestinal fermentation and results in an increase in weight.

A River That Petrifies.

The water of the River Tinto, in Spain, hardens and petrifies the sand of its bed, and if a stone falls in the stream and alights on another they, in a few months, unite and become one stone. Fish cannot live in the water.

A Sacred Number.

Thirteen was the sacred number of the Mexicans and the ancient people of Yucatan. Their week had 13 days, and they had 13 snake gods.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss Flo Kelly, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK. UGH!

"Dodson's Liver Tone" better than calomel and can not salivate.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel, just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.—Adv.

Friend (cautiously)—Very well, if you can guarantee that I shall remember it.

IF YOU NEED A MEDICINE YOU SHOULD HAVE THE BEST

SUFFERING CATS! GIVE THIS MAN THE GOLD MEDAL

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.

This drug is called freezone, and is a compaund of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This drug freezone doesn't eat out the corns of calluses but shrivels them without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. If your druggist doesn't have freezone have him order it for you.—Adv.

American Housewives Profit From the Lessons in Thrift As Taught by French Chefs

The French chef, the acknowledged world leader of the art of the cuisine, is the product of a country that surpasses all others in the practice of thrift.

But the necessity of keeping her food budget within strict limits in spite of war prices has led many an American housewife to discover for herself some of the secrets of the French chef in making inexpensive and formerly neglected food into delicacies fit for a king.

Especially has this been so in the preparation of meat for our American tables. The following are some of the secrets of the French chef that the American housewife has discovered for herself.

Flank steak, which costs much less than top sirloin or round steak, makes an excellent roast. It can also be pot roasted or used as chop steak.

Chuck or round steak costs much less than porterhouse or sirloin. These cuts should be cooked by "moist" heat or made tender by mechanical means, as in "hamburger."

Beef neck is juicy and well flavored. It makes a good pot roast and the very best stews and soups.

The cross rib makes an excellent pot roast and there is no waste.

Shin of beef makes a good "beef a la mode." Cut it up as for stew; brown pieces in hot fat; then add water; cook in a pot the same as pot roast, and serve with gravy.

Shin of beef makes a most nourishing soup and the meat can be taken from the pot afterward and served with horseradish sauce.

If you buy a rib roast of beef, have your butcher cut the rib end off so that you can use it for making soup. If it is left on and roasted with the rest of the meat it is largely wasted.

For corned beef, the flank piece, the navel piece and the brisket piece cost the least. These cuts are palatable and the left-over portions can be made into a delicious hash.

The Cuticura Toilet Trio
Having cleared your skin keep it clear by making Cuticura your every-day toilet preparations. The soap to cleanse and purify, the Ointment to soothe and heal, the Talcum to powder and perfume. No toilet table is complete without them. 25c everywhere.—Adv.

His Preference.
"I shall always, sir, keep the memory of your affection——"

"Oh, don't keep it; I would much rather you would return it."

Queen of the Quick Lunch.
Louisa, the waitress,
We greatly admire;
She hustles her orders
And ne'er seems to tire.
But should she vouchsafe you
A bit of her time,
You'd better be certain
To leave her a dime.
—Globe-Democrat.

ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE FOR THE TROOPS. Shaken into the shoes and sprinkled in the foot-bath, it gives rest and comfort, takes the friction from the shoe and prevents blisters and sore spots. Makes walking easy. Accept no substitutes. Sold everywhere. 25c.—Adv.

Love Poem.
Reproduced from a prize contest in which Honoria Squiggens, the child wonder of Squashville, won by a neck:

To hearts that yearn
For love's sweet prison,
Where his is her'n
And her'n is his'n.

Mixed War Talk.
"Pa, are all those young doctors in the hospital where we were German prisoners?"

"Of course not, my boy; why do you ask that?"

"Because somebody said they were internes."

Force of Habit.
"What a high-pitched voice that speaker has."

"Yes, he used to be a baseball player."

House of Brotherhood.
America, America,
The shouts of war shall cease;
The glory dawns! the day is come
Of victory and peace!

And now upon a larger plan
We'll build the common good,
The temple of the love of man,
The house of brotherhood!

What though its stones were laid in tears,
Its pillars red with wrong,
Its walls shall rise through patient years
To soaring spires of song!

For on this house shall faith attend,
With joy on airy wing,
And flaming loyalty ascend
To God, the only king!

America, America,
Ring out the glad refrain!
Salute the flag—salute the dead
That have not died in vain!
O glory! Glory to thy plan.

To build the common good,
The temple of the rights of man,
The house of brotherhood!

AN UNDEFILED HERITAGE

Father in heaven, who lovest all,
Oh, help thy children when they call;
That they may build from age to age
An undefiled heritage.

Teach us to rule ourselves always,
Controlled and cleanly night and day;
That we may bring, if need arise,
No maimed or worthless sacrifice.

Teach us to look, in all our ends,
On thee for Judge, and not our friends;
That we with thee may walk uncowed
By fear or favor of the crowd.

Teach us the strength that cannot seek
By deed or thought to hurt the weak;
That, under thee, we may possess
Man's strength to comfort man's distress.

Teach us delight in simple things,
And mirth that has no bitter springs;
Forgiveness free of evil done,
And love to all men 'neath the sun.
—Rudyard Kipling.

It Is Home

Many young men, standing among the most tremendous realities, have their eyes half shut or entirely closed. A mighty defense for a young man is a good home. Some of our readers look back with tender satisfaction to their early home. It may have been rude and rustic, hidden among the hills, an architect or upholsterer never planned nor adorned it. But all the fresco on princely walls never looked so enticing to you as those rough hewn rafters. You can think of no park or arbor of trees planted on a fashionable country seat so attractive as the plain brook that ran in front of the old farm house and sang under the weeping willows. No barred gateway, adorned with statue of bronze, and swung open by obsequious porter in full dress, has half the glory of the old swing gate. Many of you have a second dwelling place, your adopted home, that also is sacred forever. There you built the first family altar. There your children were born. All those trees you planted. That room is sacred, because, once in it, over the hot pillow, flapped the wing of death. Under that roof you expect, when your work is done, to lie down and die. You try with many words to tell the excellency of the place, but you fail. There is only one word in the English language that can describe your feeling. It is "home."

Go forth into the busy world and love it, interest yourself in its life; mingle kindly with its joys and sorrows; try what you can make them do for you, and you will know what it is to have men yours, better than if you were their kin or master. —Brook Herford.

A Letter From Miss Josephine Vandergon

AMERICAN RED CROSS
February,, 18 1916

Dearest Home Folks:

Although I answered your last letters briefly I have been thinking of you so much I will write you again. I may not hear from you for ever so long, because we are on our way, to the States (?) or somewhere. We left Royat on the 13th of February and arrived in La Baule on the 16th traveling only the distance from San Francisco to Los Angeles. To travel on a French Troop train is certainly not like traveling on the "Rocket" the "Lark" or the "Angel," for there are no diners, no water, and no heat on the one we were on. Besides, the train just creeps along tries out every side track all along the way. Sometimes it would go back and forth for a half mile a whole morning long.

One nurse said to an M. P. at a station: "Can't you report these Frenchmen for running the train this way?" "No" he said; "reporting only makes them run it worse." But we really reached St Nazaire at last, and got into Ambulance Trucks, driven by our own dear boys, and we went like a flash of lightning the nine miles to La Baule. The Officers and enlisted men of our Base came on the same train as far as Nantes, where they left us to go to a camp. We do not yet know if they are to sail with us or not.

No one knows anything about it.

One Officer and one enlisted man came on with us, convoyed us as it were.

There are over 300 Nurses at Hotel Royal in La Baule, all awaiting further orders, all expecting to sail sooner or later, 60 left the day after we arrived, and soon after we were given better rooms. We spent the first night in the funniest cutest tiny little attic rooms you ever saw. We were given numbers and had to go and hunt our own rooms up about 8 flight of stairs. You know elevators seldom run in France, outside of Paris. We were quite fatigued after that train trip, but now we are having a fine chance to rest up. The food is good, and the dining room comfortably heated.

Our rooms have no heat, but we have plenty of covers to keep nice and warm, and in many ways the huge building is modern. It is beautifully situated right on the Atlantic, coast and in a forest of pine trees, which cover an area fo several miles and here and there in this lonely grove are really attractive and good looking homes. The weather is rough at present but not so awfully cold. We had a mild storm last night, that made me think of the song, "Master the Tempest is Raging," but there wasn't any danger connected with it. An ocean naturally makes a lot of noise when the wind blows hard. We are very fortunate to be here, for it is considered a lovely summer resort. Although it is not even spring it still is quite wonderful.

After dinner last night Miss Stinson addressed us. She is in charge of the nursing service in France, and it is in her power to put us to work again if she sees fit to do so. She is a woman out of a thousand, the kind one would call a "Tower of Strength."

She said we ought to be mighty thankful that we had the opportunity to be here and be able to go home well and whole.

It is true, numerous nurses have gone home shell shocked, or physically injured, and many have aged considerably, but we were all ready to give our lives the same as the boys were.

Our Base, as you know, was one of the Hospital Bases a good distance from the front, but we recieved patients constantly from the trenches; usually they had received First Aid before they were shipped to us. Believe me, they did not come over in French Trains, but in American Red Cross trains, almost always. At times when we only had 37 nurses, we handled 3,000 patients at a time. As soon as they were able to go to convalesceent hospitals, we sent them away, and admitted new ones. Some of our nurses had Influenza, and some were ordered to the front. We all would have had a chance to get near the firing line had the war lasted longer. In a way the war is not over yet. "Its a great life if you don't weaken.

Tusting everything is peaceful and all are happy at home.

I remain, with much love,
Josephine.

Mrs. Turner's Birthday

A number of Mrs Jas. Turner's friends gave her a surprise party on her birthday this week. About thirty guests were present. They presented Mrs. Turner with a number of new records for her Victrola. The evening was spent in dancing and a general good time, at the close of which a delightful supper was served.

The N. and S. Club

The N and S Club will meet with Mrs. Hanger, on Los Gatos Road, next Tuesday afternoon, March 25, to look over garments for Belgian and other relief work. Please bring what you can and come early. Any garments that are warm and servicable as well as blankets and bedding will be acceptable.

Almost everything seems to be advancing in price every day now except Kings and Iron crosses. The Allies should have conquered the hens, and cows and another pig or two while they were about it.

WHETHER FATHER YORKE'S ST. PATRICK'S DAY SPEECH constituted a violation of the law of the land or not, it contained very little that we could excuse, much less agree with. Even the expurgated edition which the papers printed came perilously near being too vile for publication. We could not characterize his allusions to Bolshevism as "pleasantry." We do not believe in handling that kind of stuff with gloves. Personally we should prefer to use tongs.

We must have parties, of course, but the time has come surely in the development of the national mentality to remember that a partisanship which closes its eyes to the vital consideration of service is of no account. If an administration's chief concern is its own perpetuation, at any cost and by any device, it and its party had better never have been born—it is a menace to the foundations of society and a sure deterrent to progress.—San Jose Mercury Herald.

WE ARE NOT QUITE SURE whether it would be best for the government to retain the management of the Railroads, or to return them into the hands of their owners. We do not feel qualified to discuss at any length the best methods of increasing the Railroads' earnings. But we are reasonably sure of a few things, among which is the fact that about all the railroad crossings with which we are acquainted are in wretched condition. To cross them in an auto is to inflict fearful punishment on the tires, not to speak of the rest of the car's anatomy, and altogether disregarding the wear and tear on the driver's patience. Now we have a suggestion to make which we feel sure nobody will take very seriously,—in fact we hope not. But there is this much to be said for it,—it is at least as sensible as certain bills presented in the California Legislature. Anyway, here it is,—let all auto owners be taxed a sufficient amount to provide for the repair of the offending crossings. The saving in tires alone would far more than pay the taxes.

Address by John R. Mott

At Camagie Hall, N. Y. City

Dr. John R. Mott, General Secretary of the National Y. M. C. A., speaking Saturday morning, February 8th, 1919, in Carnegie Hall before the League of Political Education, said:

Naturally more of the complaints concerning the war work of the Y. M. C. A. come to me as General Secretary of the National War Work Conncil than to any other one person. It will interest you and I think surprise some of you when I say that the chief impression made upon me by reviewing all of these criticisms is this: What a vast area of this work is untouched by these complaints and what comparatively small part is touched at all by them! How many complaints have we heard, in a time when we might have expected to hear more than usual, concerning the regular work of the Young Men's Christian Association that existed before the war and that has gone on right in the teeth of this war; that work of thousands of Association branches in North America, with their five thousand executive officers, with more than one hundred million dollars in buildings that have been working ceaselessly night as well as day, for the physical, social, mental, moral, and spiritual betterment of all classes of men and boys? it seems to me that there never has been a period since I have known the Association (and I have known it for over thirty years) when I have heard so little criticism concerning this work of the Association on behalf of young men in American cities and rural communities, young men in industries, on railways, in colleges, and elsewhere, as in this war period! I would remind you that from this established and well-known work have come largely the real leaders, the effective methods and the spirit of the war work of the Y. M. C. A. That is, they are all of a piece.

Come now to our work in Mexico and on the Mexican border, how insufficiently that work was done, and yet how little complaint about it we have heard at a time when, if ever, I repeat, men would be recalling weaknesses and pointing to to flaws.

Now take the war work that we have been doing on this side of the Atlantic since America entered the war. Have you been keeping a record as has been done in my office? If so, you will find there have been next to no complaints about what we have done in the great cantonments and other large camps and in countless small detachments from sea to sea and along our coasts in serving the American Army and Navy. To my mind it is highly significant that working in nearly one thousand buildings, tents, and other structures, with a staff of over four thousand secretaries conducting their varied, helpful activities before the very eyes of the people who could criticise, were there ground for criticism, the Association has been commended for doing a very good piece of work and by none has it been more praised than by the men who are being served and also by leaders of the sister organizations with which we were glad to co-operate in the recent Campaign.

Little Johnoy was out walking with his nurse one afternoon when he saw a man with some puppies.

When Johny inquired how much they cost, he got the answer, "Five dollaas apiece," "oh" he wailed, "I dident want a piece; I wanted a whole dog!"

A German farmer was in search of a driving horss. A friend directed him to a livervman. I've got just the horse you want said the liveryman. "He's five years old, sound as a dollar and goes ten miles without stopping." The German shook his head. "Nod for me," he said I lif eight miles from town out, and mi dot horse I haf to valk back two miles."

High School Notes

Don't forget the Junior-Senior Show tonight and Saturday night at eight o'clock at the Campbell Union High School Auditorium !! Both plays are progressing rapidly and promise to be exceptionally good.

The Florist's Shop is as good as its name, the scene will be a mass of flowers Each character is very well suited to his position. The following is the cast:

Maude,—the florist'sbookkeeper, Young and goodlooking with a voice which drips with sympathy—Lois Andrews.

Henry, an ordinary, tough office boy, about sixteen. Elizabeth Ross.

Slovsky— A middle-aged, Jewish proprietor of the shop. Emil Mrak.

Miss Wells—a timid talkative spinster, faded, sweet, rather colorless, reminiscent of a youth that has dwindled rather than ripened to middle age. Dorothy Martin

Mr. Jackson—suitor of Miss Wells. Davia Price.

A young man—Elmer Chase.

Doesn't that sound good? Don't miss it!

Now, here's a little bit about the Senior Play, Trouve. It is a one act play full of "pep", Campbell High School's motto. You will be sorry if you don't see it.

The cast:

Timmy Fagan; a patriotic Irishman fighting for America, full of fun, but a "little soft-hearted." RUDOLPH HOERLER.

Kathleen: An enthusiastic civilian relief worker who encourages Timmy. CECILE ELLISON

Fred Vanderworts, an original "Shylock", and suitor of Jean Berger. HAROLD COUK.

Jean Berger, a Salvation Army lassie who always comes up smiling. ELIZABETH DUNCAN.

Miss Lewellen, a Red Cross nurse. ISABELLE COLLINS.

Mrs. Pearson—Matron of French war orphans' home. EVELYN HENRY.

Seargent Shaw,—a good natured noncom who is always ready to fill in. ELLARD LA MONTAGNE.

Louie, a poor unfortunate Frenchman who "doesn't know who he is or where he came from." GEORGE GUHE.

This delightful drama differs decidedly from the "Florist's Shop." We assure you both will be a rare treat.

All seats may be reserved by telephone from the office: Tickets for the Junior-Senior Show and the May Festival—fifty cents; single tickets—thirty-five cents.

Help the French War Orphan Fund!

Prof. Bassett, of the Stanford University, visited the Campbell Union High School Tuesday afternoon. He made this visit especially to read part of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream." All of the student's enjoyed the reading greatly, the only fault we had to find was that it was too short. Maybe we should be good and want to return to our studies but we wanted to hear Mr. Bassett also and as we could have studied every day we preferred to hear a man that could read as well as he.

In his reading Prof. Bassett took the part of the different characters assuming different voices for each and acting the play out for us. This made the play much more enjoyable. We hope that in the ver near future we will have the opportunity to hear him again—an opportunity which will readily be accepted by all who have heard him once.

As has been true for the past two or three years, Mrs. H. W. Higbie's bulb garden is attracting much attention and many visitors. Just now the hyacinths and tulips are in full bloom and create a riot of color and far reaching frgarance that is a pleasure to every passer by.

W. C. T. U. Report

The National and State Woman's Christian Temperance Union are putting on a BIG DOUBLE DRIVE begining March 20th. The National drive is for a million dollars and a million members by March 20, 1920. Of this amount Northern California has been apportioned $15,300 and amount for state work is the same, totaling $30,600, This Co. will be apportionod according to its population. The state budget is for Hospital Mothers, French and Belgian orphans, Moral education, Law enforcement and other general work.

The budget will furnish money for work always emphasized by the organization and especially needed now in the reconstruction and stabilizing period. Child Welfare $150,000, Health and Morality $100,000, Americanization $200,000, Women in Industry $30,000, Education and Information $50,000, World Prohibition $300,000, Headquarters—Evanston and Washington $50,000, Equipment and Repairs $20,000, Field Service $30,000, Administration $70,000.

A big program is planned to assist in World prohibition and to send to the more than forty foreign countries, federated since 1884, in the World's W. C. T. U., great women leaders to give the gospel of total abstinance and prohibitian.

Australia, New Zealand and Scotland, now in the midst of nation wide campaigns are looking to the United States W.C.T.U. for help. China, Japan, India, South America and Cuba have all asked for help against the threatened invasion by liquor interests driven from the United States.

The W.C.T.U. in Mexico is already circulating petitions to President Caranza pleading with him to prevent the invasion in the republic by American Brewers.

Thirty five W. C. T. U. missionaries have been commissioned by the World's Organization since 1891, when Mrs Mary Clement Leavitt of Boston completed her seven year pilgrimage as the pioneer representative of the W.C.T.U.

The work of these temperance missionaries and organizations in more than forty countries give the W.C.T.U a foot hold in the work of world prohibition held by no other organization, and it is a well known fact that the women of a country must be secured before any great reform can be accomplished. The W. C. T. U. will have a distinct contribution to the work of Americanization and through this Jubilee Fund will put in fifty foreign speaking centers paid workers, who with volunteer helpers, will work among the homes of foreign born, combining the teaching of English to mothers, and the care of the child, with the education against the use of home made liquors, thus bringing a contentedness with American prohibition. The W. C. T. U. realizes that Scientific Temperance education must be continued for years to come and propaganda will be disseminated that will insure the retaining of the prohibition laws.

No other organization is termed "organized mother love" and child welfare work will involve co-operation with the program givea out by the government, with added moral education and protection for children. The co-operation of the W. C. T. U. has already been accepted by the Division of Woman's Work United States Department of Labor and in 20 states the W.C.T.U., co-operates with women welfare workers in factories, industrial plants and department stores.

Every state including Alaska, has been given it's quota of the million dollars to be raised in the drive.

The Followers.

The man of intelligence who lacks moral force remains always a follower; he never becomes a leader, for he is seldom master of his own conduct.
